

The Bone Research Society Neil Mackenzie Public Engagement Award 2017

The BRS would like to announce the Neil Mackenzie Public Engagement Award 2017. For the award, New Investigators are invited to submit an application to develop a videographic about any aspect of basic, clinical or translational research in mineralised tissues. The target audience can be any age group and should be clearly stated on the storyboard application.

The winner's video will be streamed during sessions at our next annual BRS meeting which will be held in Bristol, June 25th – 27th 2017 (<http://boneresearchsociety.org/meeting/bristol2017/>) and feature on our BRS website and on our social media platforms.

To apply, please complete the attached storyboard (<http://bit.ly/2iCzPA4>) and email the application to Kate Ward at info@boneresearchsociety.org by 3rd March 2017. The successful applicant will then work with the BRS committee to produce their videographic animation and will receive a monetary award of £500.
